mod was sobered and chastened by remembrance that one who had loved her well lay in the church yard; yet her face was full of a tender hope that, in its calmness, seemed more like certainty—content. Hildred's gaiety was somewhat forced, and her manner rather absent; her face fixed by result into purpose, which her keen eyes, looking onward, appeared to see already fulfilling. Millio was relieved from a great dread when her sister told her that she need not yet leave the house she so much loved; that they might stay in it, at least, till after that she need not yet leave the house she so much loved; that they might stay in it, at least, till after that she need not yet leave the house she so much loved; that they might stay in it, at least, till after that she need not yet leave the house she so much loved; that they might stay in it, at least, till after that she need not yet leave the house she so much loved; that they might stay in it, at least, till after that she need not yet leave the house, the air treated him like a deg when he had dared to appear they could settle plans for the future. Hildred had many schemes for herself—glancing, all of them, at a possibility, but falling of from it shyly, and then growing confused in all but one central idea, that she would be independent, and would make herself famous; for Millio she had but one plan, fixed and constant.

Tho day was one of those serenely beautiful days we often get in late autumn; the sky clondless, the air treaty yetsoft, the whole earth dazzlingly bright-vestured.

"A holiday morning, Millie:" Hildred exclaimed, as they steed in the sun on the door-step. "Let these happy weeks the had spent with Millie?" What hopes had she cherished? What we'll way her love had she cherished? What we'll way her love had she cherished? What we'll have here had she cherished? What we'll have here a thought here had she cherished? What way her love had she cherished?

For the first time since his death, the uncle's study was lighted up, and Hildred sat there with the man of law.

As Millio lay thinking how sweet it was to have a sister so strong, so wise, to take care of her; wondering if it were sweeter yet to have a mother, and then, perchance, pendering deeply how it would be to have a husband—her thinking, after a while, became dreaming; she did not stir when some one opened the house-deer, as if with a privileged hand; when a firm step came through the hall, and, after a moment's pause, into the very "Because is an enemy's name." privileged hand; when a firm step came through to hall, and, after a moment's pause, into the very reem. The study was at the back of the heuse Hidred sitting there, bringing the whole power of her intellect, concentrating her attention upon the matter before her, heard nothing external to that study, apart from that matter. She had some trouble in personaling Mr. Blankhardt that it was any use for min to go over the business, with her, more—for he was a sensible, conscientious, practical man—in making him understand that she had fully determined. more—for he was a sensible, conscientious, practical man—in making him understand that she had fully determined, and that it was no nee to oppose her, upon a course of action he could not approve, and from which he tried to dissuade her; most of all, in extracting from him a promise that (as she would have her own way) he would take the necessary steps for her whon she sent him her final command to do so; all this took time, energy, and what was far more difficult to Hidred, patience.

Meanwhile, what was passing in the drawing-nergy is the standard of the sent and the sent and the sent in the limit to make the new sheet in point to make the new look of the sent and the tried to do not a sent him her final command to do so; all this took time, energy, and what was far more difficult to Hidred, patience.

Meanwhile, what was passing in the drawing-nergy is findly; and as if littlered were only too good not to sock lines. Surrender. The Organ, at Washington, has been laboring to Precious Relict of the Patriothave the slavery question ignored and pretermitted by the brethren. J. M. Botts, who is spoken of for the Presidency, is an open advocate for friend for this very acceptable present. We shall such a policy. The brethren are in a transition keep it a highly prized treasure. front. The Kentucky Legislature shrank from an all the marks of age, but it is still almost as legiapproval of the Kansas-Nebraska bill, shrank ble as when first written: from the avowal of an opinion as to the constitutionality of the power of Congress over slavery in the Territories—maintaining the power only questionable. They would not even indorse the position of their own Governor. Still, they are not yet ready at Frankfort to strike out the slavery plank of the Know-Nothing platform. The wirepullers don't think they can venture so far yet. They are willing to sell out to the North for the sake of spoils; but they fear the people. Some of the brethren, however, have come out as pioneers, and openly proposed a surrender of the Southern to the Northern Know-Nothings. The Nashville Republican and Banner, the chief organ Nashville Republican and Banner, the chief organ of the self-styled American party in Tennessee, speaks out boidly. The article appears as editorial, is marked No. 1, and is addressed to the American party of Tennessee. Here is the position fully stated :

attention, to make it as clear to you as the sain at noon-day, instit is your dury, not only as members of a party looking it the success of that party, and as parinot having at hear the general wehave and perpetuity of the Union, out as fouthern men taking an enhabtened view of the the interests of the South, to exert all the influence you can exercise to have the Savery ques-tion, as a party test, wholly ignored by the American party.

tiere is the reason for this policy in general. which is subsequently confirmed and illustrated: That in a party composed of Northern and Southern men, there can be no real, sincere, and lasting agreement as to what are the just and constitutional rights of the South in respect to the introduction of slaves into free territory belonging to the United States. into the territory belonging to the United States. That between southern and Southern men there always have been, and ever will be, will can diffund amental ditherences of opinion upon that quest on.

Anotherefore that there was no other possible alternative than purely sectional parties (which would surely lead to a dissolution of the Union) or national parties, which should recognize and tolerate such differences of opinion upon the slavery question.

This writer admits that he has to tell his brethren some unpalatable truths, and the reader shall see that they are precisely what we told the brethren all the time. Here is a witness who verifies all that we have said. When the Know-Nothings of New York opposed the election of Seward, we announced that it was not for his Abolitionism that they opposed him. They were opposed to him because he was opposed to them. He denonneed the party for its secresy and its proscriptiveness of foreigners and Catholics; for that reason, and that only, they opposed him.

During the whole of the animated debate in the New Yor. Learniature, which preceded the election of Mr. ors Legislature, which preceded the election of Mr. eward, although he selection was vehemently opposed, o opposition, as the published debates at the time will

The Bullano Commercial Advertiser, commonly regarded as Mr. Fillmore's home organ, repuniated the treelth section in the strong st language, and declared it would not stand upon it. Other equally significant acts of individual repudiation might be mentioned, but the se will suffice for our present purpose. It is enough to say that the slavery section of the Philadelphia platform stands conlessed and publicly repudiated by the great mass of the American party in all of the non-slave-holding States.

Turn we now to the election for Speaker for a further illustration of the effect of the insertion of the twelfth section of the Philadelphia platform. Mr H. Committee report to the House, for its adoption, the following:

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That said R. C. Wintersmith, Treasurer of time Commonwealth, has faithfully and properly discharged, and caused to be discharged, all the functions of his office; that he had both the legal and moral right to receive and appropriate the money drawn by him under the act, approved March 9, 1854; that in doing so, he neither unlawfully nor unjustly appropriated and five hundred dollars per annum to the Trea-surer, to enable him to employ the services of a Cierk, to aid him in the performances of his duties; the language used in the appropriation for clerks' hire in the Auditor's Office, and that to the Treasurer. Omitting that portion of the act relating to the Auditor's office, and it would read: "That hereafter there shall be an allowance of five hun-dred dollars to the Treasurer, to enable him to emoloy the services of a clerk to aid him in the performance of his duties."

The office of clerk in the Treasurer's Office is not created by the act. The appropriation is directly "to the Treasurer," and not to any clerk whom he might appoint. The Treasurer, in my opinion, was might appoint. The Treasurer, in my opinion, was authorized to draw the money from the Treasury, and the manner of its appropriation seems, by the act, to be left to his discretion. The presumption must be indulged that the Legislature did not intend to impose any restriction on the Treasurer as to the mauner of applying the money; and the wave been properly discharged; and whether they were performed by himself alone, or whether he was aided by one or more clerks, is a matter of no consequence so far as the Commonwealth is concerned. following: JOINT RESOLUTION. Resolved by the General Assembly of the Com-monsecalth of Kentucky, That in regard to the power which Congress had to pass the Missouri compromise, or to establish a geographical line, by which slavery was inhibited in the Territories north of that line, we indurse and adopt the folwing extract from Gov. Morehead's Message: 'The Federal Government, in its original organ-zation, conformed itself most wisely to the then condition of the people and the property it was intended to protect. Slavery then existed in most of the States. The constitution did not pretend value States. The constitution did not pretend to make any change whatever in the relation of master and slave. The property in slaves, such as it was, pre-existed, and the constitution recognized it without limitation, and extended to the owner its unqualified protection. It created as owner its unqualified protection. It created no property, but recognized whatever was property in the States as such, and left it in the condition n which it was found. When it speaks of prop-'erty, whatever was made so by any of the States, was what was intended. It did not undertake to define what was or was not property.

'The Federal Government being one of limited powers, cannot impart to or take from anything 'its attribute of property. If it cannot establis slavery in a Territory, it cannot destroy it. Wha 'ever is property in any one of the States, if ear-'ried into a Territory cannot lose its character of 'property by the action of the general government 'I am deeply and profoundly impressed with the the conviction, that the only safety to the Union, is the firm establishment of the doctrine that the 'ally from ail hostilo action upon the subject o 'slavery. It is a government for the slaveholding 'States as well as the free, and it has no right to throw even its moral influence against the tenur of property recognized as such by any of its constituent parts. It would be a gross prostitution of its powers and a departure from the objects of its organization to do so. As a common govern ment for all the States, it never was intended by its framers, that it should discriminate between the property of one State or one section and function. Equality is the law of its existence.'

Mr. E. O. Brown offered the following amendment as a substitute for said resolution, viz:

Resolved, That obedience to the Constitution of the United States, and all laws passed by Congres in pursuance thereof, is sacredly obligatory upon the citizens of the States, and that the Supren Court of the United States is the proper tribmas in the last resort, to determine the constitutiona enactments of Congress; and that we utterly reandiate the higher-law doctrines of the North, a well as the secoding and nullifying doctrines of the South and North, as exhibited first by the South

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE—SUPPOSED SUP IDE.—On the 17th of December last, Dr. Rudolph Wenderoth arrived in this city for the purpose of establishing a German paper, which was to bear the name of "Tennessee Volks Blatt." He labored industriously, and his paper was to have made its appearance last Wednesday, a large portion of it being in type on Tuesday, the day upon which he absented himself, from the Germania House, where he had been boarding. Thinking that he had gone to the country on business, no alarm was felt for his page of until vectorate, when his reference until vectorates. is absence, until yesterday, when his prolonged tay induced the proprietor of the house and some f his friends to force open his trunk, hoping there to find some clue to his whereabouts or intentions. In the trunk a letter was found directed to Mr. E. Kattman, editor of "Die Stimme Des Volks," which informed that gentleman of his intention of killing nimself, and desiring Mr. K. to inform his brother, who resides in Indiana, of his death. He states in his letter that he cannot give the reasons for per-petrating the deed, but that by the time the letter is found he will be a dead man. Dr. Wenderoth formerly edited and published at Indianapolis, In-diana, a newspaper entitled "Freie Presse von In-diana," and it was stated to us that he had numerous friends in that city. We did not learn what his eircumstances were in life-neither could we get a tangible clue to the causes which prompted him t write such a letter or disappear so mysteriously. Ho has not been seen since last Tnesday week, and his friends fear thet he has committed suicide, as threatened in his letter. We learn that he wa about thirty-eight or forty years of age.

[From the Philadelphia Evening Belletin, Feb. 4.] Accident on the Philadelphia and Harrisburg Railroad.

One Man Killed and Twenty-Seven Persons Wounded.

The Express train for the West, which left the depot at Eleventh and Market streets, at 11 o'clock last night, met with a disastrous accident about half a mile above Hestonville, in the Twenty-fourth Ward. The train, which consisted of the comotive, baggage and two passenger cars, was ing up a heavy grade at the rate of about fifteen les an hour, when a rail that had probably been rendered brittle by the intense cold, broke in three pieces, throwing the front wheels of the for-ward car off the track. These wheels were, however, drawn npon the rails again, and this car af-terward retained its position upon the track.

The second car was thrown from the track, and the forward axle breaking, the car, with all its or cupants, was precipitated down an embankmen about thirty feet high. The car, in its descen struck a large tree at the bottom. The concussion aplit the car open, and threw many of the passer gers to the ground, and enabled most of the escape from the wreek. Had the ear not been broken to pieces, the consequences would have been more frightful, as there was a very hot fire in the tone. The blazing contents of the above stove were scattered through the car in its descent, and in a few minutes the latter was in flames. A great number of the passengers were more or ass hurt. Out of about fifty in the ear, twenty-even were wounded. But one passenger was seven were wounded. But one passenger was killed. He was found lying upon his back, with a portion of the wreck pressing heavily upon his neck and the upper part of his breast. He lived for about an hour after being extracted from the uins, but was insensible during this period. The leceased was not known, but from papers in his ocket, and the initials upon his shirt, he is b lieved to be Mr. Abraham B. Hart, of the firm of Wm. B. Hart & Son, merchants of Cincinnat Obto. The name of A. B. Hart is also upon trunk among the baggage, which is supposed thave belonged to the deceased. have belonged to the deceased.

As soon possible, the wounded and the passengers who escaped inhurt, were got into the remaining passenger car, and the baggage car, and brought back to the city. Every possible attention was paid to the wants of the wounded. The latter were taken to the different hotels and to private houses, and it is, therefore, impossible to ob-wounded. He received a cut in the head, and was considerably bruised. He was taken to the Allegheny House, but he was able to be out this From Mr. Rood we obtained many par norning. From Mr. Rood we obtained many par-culars of the disaster.

Another of the wounded was taken to the Alloghany House, but he was well enough to start West this morning. A German, named Nicholas Scheser, who was a assenger on the train, had his arm cut and was ruised about the hands and head. He was taken the l'ennsylvania llospital. The body of the passenger who was killed, was taken to the residence of Robert E. Bringhurt, unlortaker, No. 20, North Eleventh street, where it was placed in ice. The Coroner held an on the remains, and after the examination of ser eral witnesses, a verdict was rendered which sa rth that the death of the deceased was on y the overturning of a car from the breaking of a

The deceased appears to have been about twee ty-eight years of age. He was a stout, thick seeman, not over five feet six inches in height. He has a light brown hair, and wore no beard or whis kers. Those who were present at the scene speek of the rapidity with which the flames spread through the broken car. In two minutes from the time of the accident, it was wrapped in flames, and the light caused by it gave rise to a general alarm of fire in West Philadelphia.

Major Arnold, who is in command of Fort Deni naud, sent ont a party, consisting of one teamster and five men (privates), and one six mule team, for the purpose of cutting pine poles. After they had loaded the wagon and were returning, when about four miles from the Fort, they were attacked by a party of Indians (number not known) and all killed or taken prisoners except one man, who was badly wounded, but made his escape. The mules were all killed.

On the arrival of the wounded man at Fort Deuinaud, Major Arnold immediately disputched a party in pursuit of the Indians, and if possible to rescue the men that were supposed to have been taken prisoners. Up to the time of the Fashion's leaving, nothing had been heard from Fort Deuinaud in regard to the missing men.

It was supposed that the express rider between Fort Myers and that post had been cut off, as nothing had been heard of him for several days. Col. Munroe has mustered in several days.

Col. Munroe has mustered in several volunteer companies for the purpose of protecting the frontier settlements. Preparations are being made for an active campaign against the Indians, and it is now the fixed determination of the Government to force them to leave the country.

DR. BLACKWELL'S SARSAPARILLA AND VERSICOLA.

For the cure of Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Chronic Rheumatism, and Blood Impurities generally.
MIDDLETOWR, JEFFERSON Co., Ky., Aug. 13, 1855.

Dr. VAUGHAN-Dear Sir: lu the summer of 1852 1 had a young black boy, about two years old, severely afflicted with an eruptive disease of some kind. His whole body, and more especially his head, arms, and legs, were one mass of running matter. I had lost two children about the same age, and of the same parents, with the same kind of cruptions, and I felt sure this one would also die; but, luckily, I was recommended to use your "Dr. Blackwell's Sarsaparilla and Vessicola," le? which I am happy to inform you, from the use of some Eve or six bottles, entirely cured him. Respectfully yours, ALLEN MINOR.

RIVER AND WEATHER.

The prespects are now good for a speedy opening of navigation. We have no doubt that the rain of Sur day night and yesterday extended to the "head of the hollow," and if so, we would advise persons living on the banks of the river to prepare for a big flood. It was still raining last night, notwithstanding the wind had changed to the west. CINCINNATI, Feb. 11-M

The weather is wet and very disagreeable. The Pittsburg Pest, of Saturday, says: The soft weather of yesterday has already cor-menced to produce a swell in the river. The ice in the iver has began to thaw, and by to-day will be so mu-oftened as to rrever travel across the Monongahel it was still raining last evening, with every prospect continuance.

The river slill continues to rise slowly. The pre-ut water is now sufficient to create uine fect on lia: eth shoals.
Freights In the lower part of the river and at Smith

STEAMERS AT PHITSBURG.—The owners of steamboats and agents of insurance companies at Pittsburg, held a secting on the 8th inst. to devise means for the proteion of the property from the ice. The following is a list of the steamers now lyin at the l'ittsburg wharf, below the Monongahela bridg Allegheny, Richery, Flora. Rocket, U. S. Mail, Jacob Poe, Fanny Harris, Rosalie, A. G. Mason, Orb, Brand Turk, James Wood, Bidow, Pittsburg, ning Star, ne, tekeye State, 1. McClay, hochester, lichigan No. 2, Ind-avor, astle Garden,

The following steamers were lying at Cairo e 4th waiting for navigation to open:

F. Sass, W. Hailmau, ir Wm. Wailace, Aima, Maitha Jewett, The ice was running heavily.

THE RIVER.—During yesterday the river was about it a stand. The weather was quite warm, and the snown the sun melted quite fast. The prospects for warmer weather than we have had lately, are lattering.

St. Louis Intelligencer, Feb. 8. We clip the following items from the Evansville ournal of the Sth Instant:

Cournal of the 5th Instant:

Laborers were busily eugaged yesterday in sawing heice preparatory for making a channel to permit the teamers lying at our wharf, to reach a safer harbor in be bend above. The names of these boats are David libson, Tecumsch, and T. C. Twichell. Several fights occurred on Water street yesterday, then drew fine audiences, and tended great to alletime the moral and business dulluess of the day. No ody much hurt. body much hurt.

1. Our steamboat friends up at the mouth of Green river are laving a jolly time. They participate in parties on shore or on one of the steamers, nearly every night. They speak in glowing terms of the Keutuckians of that heighborhood, as we are sure they are well justified in doniz. "Kentucky hospitality" seems to be extended them on all sides, and the steamboatmen return it in their own hearty style. There was a big ball on the Tishomingo Monday night, and seme talk of attacking the Stockwell to-night.

I have seen some of Dr. Price's patients. They appeared to have been very much diseased, almost beyond Bowling Green, Ky.

From Judge Wm. V. Loving, (The American Candidate for Governor). (The American Candidate for Governor).

I have scenseverslof Dr. Price's patients; amongs others, Mr. S. H. bickerson, ci Monroe co. At the time I saw him he was diseased from head to foot. The left sids of his face and neck was greatly enlarged and swoten. All of the left sids of his neck, breans, and right shoulder were a mass of fifthy dis eases and running sores. As he would work his arms, the air would eccape from deep nivers under his cellar nones, causing fifthy matter and bhood to bubble out. The use of the probe had proved that some of these olders extended into the hellow of the body. Mr. Dickerson put himself under Dr. Price's treatment, who administered his
